

LADES TAKE BLUE RIBBON WITH TEAM

Win Hunt Class at Baltimore Show.

AFFAIR GREAT SUCCESS

Attendance Up to Average and Horses of Higher Standard Than Usual.

BALTIMORE, Md., May 26.—The eighth annual horse show, which closed this afternoon at the Elkhart Kennel, was voted one of the best if not the best in the history of the association. The attendance during the four days has been up to the average and the caliber of the exhibits of a higher order than usual.

The out-of-town entries compared most favorably with those of former years and all in all the event was a rousing success. With the championship events booked for this afternoon in the saddle and harness classes more than the usual interest was manifested.

The feature event of the afternoon was the class for hunt club teams, three to a squad, and to be ridden by members of the respective clubs.

Ladies Win.

Five cracking good teams entered the competition, and the judging was far from an easy matter. Two teams from the Union Hunt, of New Jersey; two from the Elkhart Hunt, and one from the Cameron, of Virginia, made up the list. One of the Union teams consisted of lady riders, and when the judges awarded that team the blue there was loud cheering. The ribbon was merited. The winning team consisted of Miss Katherine Elkins, of Washington, and Miss Holloway and Mrs. Dietrich, of New York.

Miss Elkins rode her Pendergast in the class for ladies hunters, but the bay gelding was not in good form, and was unplaced in a large class of good jumpers.

Mr. Watson, of this city, won the championship for harness horses with his Lord Baltimore, and captured the prize in the double class with his Lord Baltimore and My Maryland.

ITHACANS TAKE BANNER AT INTERCOLLEGIATE MEET

Carpenter, Washington Boy, Wins 880 Handily—Pennsy Is Second With Twenty-three Points—Harvard Third, and Yale Fourth—Tigers a Poor Eighth.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 26.—Cornell won the annual intercollegiate track meet this afternoon, defeating her nearest competitor, University of Pennsylvania, by 15 points, Harvard by 17, and Yale by 19.

The points—Cornell, 38; Pennsylvania, 23; Harvard, 21; Yale, 19; Syracuse, 11; Colgate, 8; Amherst, 7; Princeton, 6; Swarthmore, 4; Dartmouth, 3; Stevens, 2; Lafayette, 2. But one record was broken during the entire meet, and to Jackson, of Cornell, and Grant, of Harvard, went the honors for the best, both being tied for the first place in the pole vault at 11 feet 10 1/2 inches over an inch above the previous record made by Dray, of Yale, in 1905, when he cleared 11 feet 10 1/2 inches. The time for the other events was in the main slow as compared with the records.

Penn Started Well.

Pennsylvania began the afternoon with a victory, Haskins winning the first event, the mile-run, from Lewis, of Cornell, with Simpson, of Cornell, who was but a couple of feet behind his running mate, third. The time for this event, 4:29.15, was decidedly slow, the record held by Orton, of Pennsylvania, being 4:23.35.

Cornell then captured first place in the 400-yard run, Rogers leading Dives, of Harvard, who finished second by three yards.

The Ithacans continued their winning streak, gaining first, second and third place in the two-mile run; second and third in the mile run; first and second in the half-mile run; first and fourth in the 400; fourth in the 120-yard hurdles; tied for first and third in the pole vault, and second in the hammer throw.

Pennsylvania took first in the mile run; first and second in the 300-yard dash and the 220-yard dash, and were tied with Clark, of Harvard, and Roosevelt, of Harvard, for second place in the running high jump.

Harvard Got One First.

Harvard captured but one first, Stephenson winning the shot put. In the mile run Harvard scored fourth; in the 400 second; fourth in the 100; fourth in the half; third in the 220 dash; tied for first in the pole vault and for second in the high jump.

Yale went far behind expectations, winning but two firsts; that of the high jump and the broad jump. She also won a second in this event, a third in the hammer throw; fourth in the shot put, a tie for third with Cornell and Princeton in the pole vault; fourth in the two-mile run, and a fourth in the 220 dash.

The showing of big Tom Shevlin was a surprise to the spectators, but not to the knowing ones. Although he threw about ten feet further than in the dual meet between Harvard and Yale a week ago, still his work was far from the standard he had heretofore set. Today he seemed to manifest no particular interest in his work, and went about in a languid fashion, the direct opposite of the 20-mile run, and the other Yale contestants who fought for every point.

The best work of the day was done by Carlwell, of Pennsylvania, and his team, Whitman. Both were entered in the 100-yard dash, and they not only won the semi-finals, but won the final in splendid fashion in the order named. Again in the 220 dash they repeated their performance, winning handsily after 20 minutes of brilliant racing for seven-eighths of the distance.

The Summaries.

Mile run—Haskins, Pennsylvania, won; Lewis, Cornell, second; Simpson, Cornell, third; Minot, Harvard, fourth. Time, 4:29.15.

RUSSIAN CRISIS NEAR A POINT OF WAR

terday are known and their significance appreciated. The position of the douma was well expressed yesterday when they declared that the douma members must stick to their posts and carry on the fight for the people until they are dispersed by armed force. This is what is expected the government will resort to. The rumor gained circulation yesterday, and was generally believed, that the Czar will issue an edict today dissolving the douma.

Will Not Recognize Order.

It was in anticipation of such a move that the deputies announced their intention of remaining in session until "dispersed by force." This means that the deputies will refuse to recognize any order to dissolve, but will remain in session and proceed to enact laws which in their opinion are necessary to bring peace and quiet to the country.

On the other hand there is little doubt that if the Czar orders the members to disperse, and they refuse to obey the command, troops will be called in to drive them from the douma hall and put an end to the sessions.

If the government attempts to do this it is almost certain to end in open warfare. The douma is backed by the great majority of the people, who feel that upon it depends all their chances of gaining any degree of liberty. The dissolution of the douma will be met by armed resistance in all probability, and this will mean bloodshed.

Deputies Realize Gravity.

No one realizes the dangers of the present situation more perfectly than do the deputies who have brought about the crisis by their action of yesterday. They are prepared for any emergency and believe it is better that the great question of defining the powers of the douma shall be settled now once for all. There is little hope that the Czar will yield to the demand of the legislature for the appointment of a ministry which shall represent its views. The reactionaries are sure to utilize the opportunity offered by the douma's display of "insubordination" to attempt to persuade the Czar to dissolve the parliament. If they succeed trouble is certain to follow.

All Depends on Czar.

No one can tell how soon the Czar will give his answer to the demand of the douma for the retirement of the ministry. The existing state of unrest is therefore likely to continue for some time.

The consensus of opinion is that the action of the douma has immeasurably shortened the distance between a better understanding between the Czar and the assembly, or civil war, and there is an unexpressed fear in all quarters that the latter is the more likely result.
